WALLPAPER PATTERNS

When a room requires an instant transformation, wallpaper has you covered. Few other design elements have the power to transport you to another place, however fleetingly, while simultaneously setting a desired mood and tone. No matter what print you are drawn to, it all looks good on paper. GWEN DONOVAN

Glazier
phillipjefries.com

"I'm crazy about the new Glazier collection from Phillip Jeffries. Super chic!"

Japanese Linen
phillipjefries.com

"The perfect background for any contemporary interior."

Enchanted Woods

phillipjefries.com

"Cork wallpaper is a fantastic way to warm up a room."

Koi Pond
graciestudio.com

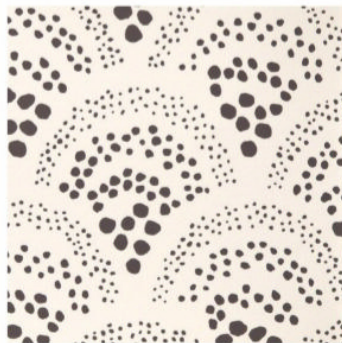

"When you need the best quality and traditional high style, Gracie Studio paper is the answer, Koi Pond is a particularly handsome pattern."

Modern Stone
augustabode.com

"A muted geometric pattern is perfect for people who have a hard time committing to a color or bold pattern. It packs a punch, but in a very subtle way that's more of a whisper versus a shout."

Chou Chou
sisterparishdesign.com

"The black and cream color palette is the perfect neutral, with a pattern that can read as both playful and sophisticated, depending on its application and context. Its small scale is perfect for layering larger scale patterned draperies or tiles without clashing."

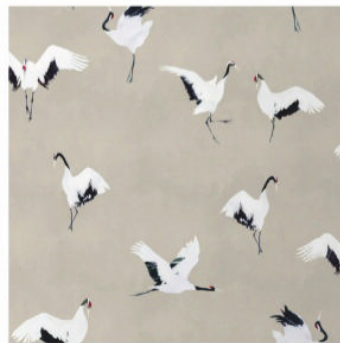

Bamboo and Birds
bobcollinsandsons.com

"Perfect in both small and large spaces alike, this wallpaper feels fun and exciting while still maintaining a timeless elegance."

Tancho
maisonc.com

"This is one of my all-time favorite wallpapers that I can't wait to use in an elegant powder or bathroom. The artistry in the pattern is exquisite."

Bucket List

Whether it's running a marathon, taking a trip around the world or adopting a shelter dog, a bucket list is as unique as a snowflake and as personal as a fingerprint. Four designers share the top 3 items on their bucket lists.

David Scott

1 A cruise to the Galapagos Islands on the new super-luxe ship Flora with my partner Alex and some dear friends. 2 Writing a second book. 3 Getting through all the approvals needed to build our new Hamptons home on Sag Harbor Cove. Patience.

Laurie Blumenfeld Russo

1 Spending our 10th wedding anniversary (coming up in 2020) in Jaipur, India. I celebrated my 13th birthday in India and it's been a huge part of my life ever since. 2 Buying a plot of land and designing a dog rescue sanctuary. I am a tremendous lover of dogs (especially our beloved Australian Shepherd, Ava!). I donate to several dog rescues, and feel the pain of every dog out there looking for a home. I think it would be an amazing and gratifying experience. 3 Designing a boutique hotel.

Fawn Galli

1 Design a glass home in a tropical forest, to be so close to the wild jungle while you are inside with the comfort and coziness of a protected home. The freedom and the wildlife of the exterior as inspiration to create a vibrant home. In my book, "Magical Rooms," I speak about growing up in the redwood forest and how it informs my interior design work. 2 Live in Paris. I LOVE Paris. But to live there and create a home there would be a dream. I am very inspired by their charm, fashion, food, gardens, furniture design and love of beauty. 3 Help the Syrian population. It is heartbreaking that people are homeless and countryless because of war. Everyone deserves the safety of a home.

Katie Hodges

1 I'd love to move to a different country at some point in my life. I'll know when it's the right time . . . there are so many adventures ahead for me! 2 Taking a road trip across America in a vintage camper van. I can't wait to hit the dirt road and discover America more intimately! 3 I'd like to own a pet pig. Perhaps when I move to my villa in Italy, that would be the perfect time!
