After opening his namesake firm in 1991, David Scott proceeded to establish himself as a master of visually stimulating interiors. He caters to his clients in the same manner, creating special mood boxes—compositions of materials, textures, samples, and photographs of art—to give them an overall impression of what's to come. In 2014, the designer introduced the Kalahari Suite, a strikingly modern collection of hardware developed in collaboration with SA Baxter for its Artisan Series. Upcoming projects include two oceanfront homes in Miami Beach, several apartments in Manhattan, and a bay-front estate in the Hamptons.
